Rollins MBA
Florida's Most Prestigious

Investing in Your Future

By Suzanne Beranek

John D. Race, Sr. '77 '84MBA
Partner, DePrince, Race and Zollo, Inc.

Benjamin Franklin once stated that “Genius without education is like silver in the mine.” John Race lives the belief that in order for the education Franklin spoke of to continue to give birth to successful professionals, those who’ve received should give back to the organizations that helped them.

John D. Race, Sr., who graduated from Rollins in 1977 and from Crummer in 1984, believes that a gift to education can touch thousands of people. He said, “Giving to education has a multiplier effect: the more we can educate people on the highest level, the more successful our country is going to be.” This, from a man who is a shining example of success and giving, and who works in a field that relies on and contributes to our successful country.

Among his successes, Race first counts his family, including wife, Sandy, a 1978 Rollins graduate, and children, Nicole, 24, John, Jr., 21, and Mandy, 19. John and Sandy, who met while students at Rollins, believe that their Rollins education prepared them well for life, “especially Crummer as it pertains to business,” Race said. He believes that his Crummer education gave him the capability (particularly through the case-study method and personalized interaction with excellent professors) to take risks, make decisions, and progress. “My Crummer education has been very instrumental in my success,” he insists. “Crummer helped give me the knowledge to start my own business without one account on the books. Crummer fueled my entrepreneurial spirit and gave me confidence that I could use to compete on a national level.”

Eleven years after John Race graduated from Crummer, he left SunTrust Capital Management and co-founded DePrince, Race & Zollo (with fellow Rollins graduate Victor Zollo '73MBA), an investment advisory firm that now manages nearly $4 billion in assets. As a partner, Race oversees the management of his firm’s $1.3-billion small-cap value portfolio, which invests for such institutional clients as Consolidated Edison, Georgia-Pacific, ConAgra, Ingersoll-Rand, Halliburton, and Raytheon.

Crummer changed Race’s life. Now he’s changing many others. His appreciation for Crummer has contributed to his decision to make the School a top priority in giving. “It’s really easy because I believe in giving back to anything that’s helped me, and I put Crummer at the very top of the list,” said Race. It shows. Race not only financially supports Crummer, both personally and professionally, he also donates his time to serve as a member of Crummer’s board of overseers and as a mentor for current students. He has also conducted speaking engagements for students and graduates. Additionally, Race and his partners hire Crummer grads and send employees to the School (they currently employ three Crummer alumni and a couple of their analysts will be starting the program this fall). “All the partners at DRZ believe we’ve received a tremendous benefit from Rollins,” Race said.

John Race is a realist who has refused to get caught up in the hyped world of the stock market. When asked the secret to his success, he stated, “Never believe your own headlines. The two things that destroy you in our business are ego and greed and if you can avoid them as much as possible you’re doing yourself a great service.” He also believes in treating the people you do business with fairly.

Race’s self-effacing creed shines through in his philosophies on giving. “I don’t believe what I’ve been blessed with is remotely attributable to my capabilities and qualities,” he shared. “It’s really easy for me to give because I’ve been blessed beyond my expectation.” ■

ROLE OF PHILANTHROPY

As a private educational institution, the importance of philanthropy has been a constant throughout the history of the Roy E. Crummer Graduate School of Business. Our growing reputation and stature make possible extraordinary new opportunities that can only be capitalized on with the investment of alumni and friends.

During the past year, the Crummer School has again been touched by the generosity of over 500 individuals, corporations, and foundations. The School recognizes and appreciates each of these heartfelt gifts. Together, they allow us to offer the superior education that has helped us maintain our position as Florida's Most Prestigious MBA.

The definition of philanthropy is a benevolent act or gift. At the Crummer School, we are grateful to receive all forms of philanthropy including the gift of time. We have 60 mentors for our MBA students, 27 members of the Board of Overseers and 30 Alumni Board Members. All of these alumni and friends give their time, effort, and dedication to the Crummer School.

The Honor Roll of Donors acknowledges all gifts to the Crummer School made between June 1, 2003 and May 31, 2004. Every effort has been made to ensure the accuracy and completeness of our list, and we apologize for any errors or omissions. To report a discrepancy or for more information, please contact the Office of Alumni Relations and Development by phone at 407-646-2537 or by email at alumni.crummer@rollins.edu.

For those donors whose names are not listed here because they wish to remain anonymous, we are grateful for your support.

FIAT LUX SOCIETY

The Crummer School is proud to announce the membership of the 2003-2004 Fiat Lux Society – created to represent the supporters who have committed a minimum of $1,000 per year.

Within the Fiat Lux Society, members are recognized according to their level of giving. All members are recognized on the annual Honor Roll of Donors plaque located at the main entrance to Crummer Hall in the Charles and Lynn Steinmetz Lobby and receive a distinctive gold lapel pin.

"I give back to Crummer by mentoring students, speaking in classes, being an Alumni Board Member and being a liaison for the Career Center. I believe it is important to give back, especially as a mentor. Many younger students do not know anyone in the field they are pursuing and I feel good about sharing my experiences and advice with them. I didn't have a mentor when I was first started out in business and believe it is a great thing."

"I give back because of respect and love for Rollins College and the Crummer School. I am a third generation Rollins graduate. My grandfather was one of the first graduates from the college in the early days, and later my mother graduated from Rollins. I graduated from the part-time MBA program in 1992. I really enjoyed my graduate program at Crummer and use the skills learned each day in my business life. I believe that our school is made so much stronger by active Alumni involvement."

CORPORATE PHILANTHROPY

Since its founding in 1957, the Crummer School has forged numerous intellectual and educational partnerships with corporations, and in turn, those corporations have invested substantially in the School. Companies have supported and benefited from consulting practica, student internships, a wide range of faculty projects and books, and job placement.

By making gifts to the Crummer School, corporations strengthen their relationship with one of the nation's top MBA programs, gain exposure to an important source of intellectual talent, advance the economic development of the region, increase visibility among future customers and employees, and encourage philanthropy among their employees.

We wish to extend our appreciation to those firms who made a contribution to the Crummer School during the past fiscal year.

Professor of Accounting
Crummer Graduate School of Business

"I give back to the Crummer School with my time, talents, and money. After only a year at the Crummer School, I am thoroughly impressed with our programs, our students, our faculty, and our staff. Our highest priority is providing a quality education to our students, one that emphasizes leadership and ethics in business. I honestly think that the Crummer School is one of the few academic environments that has figured out what we, as educators, should be doing. And, then, we actually do it! This makes me, like all Crummer School faculty, want to give back as much as I can. Still, it will never equal what working at the Crummer School gives me."

Greg Clendenin '98MBA

CEO & President
Middleton Lawn & Pest Control

"As a Crummer graduate, my experiences have meant big profit increases for Middleton and millions of added dollars in market value. Middleton supports the Crummer School, a great source for new talent, by hiring graduates. We believe that the Crummer School makes our community better and by supporting it we are doing something to make Central Florida better."

Lloyd DeVaux '89MBA
Chief Operating Officer
BankAtlantic

"I choose to give back to the Crummer School by returning to Rollins to speak to current students, participating in South Florida alumni events and financially supporting the Crummer Fund. I believe that Crummer has been instrumental in my career successes, and because of this I feel an obligation to Crummer to give back. It enhances the value of my degree and helps Crummer attract the highest quality of applicants, thus strengthening the name even more."

MATCHING GIFT COMPANIES

Gifts that span more than time...

Your employer, or your spouse's employer, may multiply your contribution thorough a matching gifts program. Most of these companies match on a dollar-per-dollar basis, but some match 2:1 or 3:1.

Each company has its own rules regarding the types of gifts that qualify, and who qualifies to participate. To obtain a matching gift form, contact your human resources department and then enclose the completed form with your donation. The form will be certified and then returned to your employer.

The following companies matched the donations of alumni during the 2003-2004 fiscal year:

Amgen, Inc.	Harcourt General
Anheuser-Busch Foundation	Harris Foundation
AT&T Foundation	IBM International Foundation
Bank of America	Johnson Controls Foundation

Dean's Message

Generosity comes in many shapes and forms. I am continually amazed with the loyalty and commitment displayed by our alumni and corporate partners striving to make the Crummer School a national leader in business education.

This issue of the Crummer Connection attempts to recognize those who have given back to the School in many ways. It includes a new recognition group, the Clover Leaf Society, highlighting those who have established an estate provision in their will or through a trust agreement. According to research conducted by the National Committee on Planned Giving, almost one in 10 Americans who have wills include a bequest to a charity. Through the Clover Leaf Society, we hope to recognize, thank, and encourage this generous form of philanthropy.

This year the Crummer School received donations of more than $880,000 for programs that support scholarships, career management, entrepreneurship, building renovations and more.

The Crummer School is fortunate to be a part of the Rollins College community which is in the midst of a continuing transformation from a small regionally-known college to a slightly larger, more prominent player on the national and international stage. Significant recent changes include the appointment of Dr. Lewis M. Duncan from Dartmouth College as Rollins' 14th President and the generous estate gift from Rollins alumnus, George Cornell, the largest gift ever in the College's 119-year history.

"This year represents the largest single increase in the number of donors to the School and the highest percentage of participation in the School's history, 13.7 percent."

Included in the Honor Roll is a listing of alumni donors by their class year. Our hope is that you will encourage your classmates to participate in the future.

This is an exciting time in the history of Rollins College and the Crummer School. Our future is only going to get brighter. With your help we will continue to impact the economic development of the nation and the lives of our graduates in significant and meaningful ways.

Sincerely yours,

Dean Craig M. McAllaster

Rollins College

With the retirement of Dr. Rita Bornstein after 14 years of dedicated service, the Rollins College Board of Trustees elected Lewis M. Duncan, Dean of Dartmouth's Thayer School, as the 14th President of Rollins College.

Rollins College was the recipient of the largest gift in its 119-year history – a $93.3-million bequest by philanthropist George Cornell. Mr. Cornell was a 1935 graduate of the College and a Rollins trustee for more than 20 years. Throughout his lifetime, he and his wife, Harriet Wilkes Cornell, made unprecedented leadership gifts to the College and displayed amazing vision. The gift from his estate will be used to endow a number of faculty chairs, student scholarships, an endowment for the Rollins presidency, and other academic initiatives.

Crummer Graduate School

The Saturday MBA Program was introduced and the first class will begin in January, 2005. The intensive, 19-month Saturday MBA program is tailored for working professionals with at least 5 years of work experience at the managerial or professional level.

Rollins College MBA students helped launch the PCE Florida Index. Recently profiled in Florida Trend magazine and the Orlando Business Journal, The PCE Florida Index is a market value index of small, Florida-headquartered public companies with individual market values of less than $250 million and annual revenues greater than $500,000. Led by Professor of Finance J. Clay Singleton, a team of 15 Rollins MBA students researched and screened hundred of companies to develop the index.

A team of three MBA students from the Crummer School placed 12th in the nation in the L'Oreal e-Strat Challenge, an annual international online business strategy competition. Teammates Hanko Zeitzmann '04MBA, Richard Harem '04MBA and Jacob Moussa '04MBA, competed against 10,000 teams from across the globe.

The Crummer School was designated a Premier Chapter of Beta Gamma Sigma at the Southern Business Deans' conference. Only twelve business schools in the Southern region hold this designation.

Hope Kramer was named recipient of the Crummer School's Martin L. Bell Scholarship for non-profit executives. Kramer is president of Beta Center, a not-for-profit agency focused on teaching parenting skills to teenage mothers and at-risk families.

The Crummer School announced the establishment of the Robert T. Guillem Leader of Tomorrow Memorial Scholarship. The endowed scholarship will be awarded to one full-time Crummer School student each year in honor of Robert Guillem '94 '97MBA to defray the cost of participating in an international consulting practica sponsored by the Crummer School. The practica allows a team of Rollins MBA students to travel overseas and work on a consulting project, giving them valuable work and life experience.

Crummer Leadership Center

In order to maintain and improve our position as a leading business school, the Crummer School launched a new leadership effort based on the principals of character development, effective communication, and creative problem solving. The center serves as a resource for learning and enhancing skills in areas critical to business success, as well as for developing broader perspectives on leadership in business. The center's mission is to help students become successful professionals, executives, leaders and effective masters of change.

Center for Entrepreneurship

The Center for Entrepreneurship was founded to serve the needs of established enterprises with significant growth potential and a strong entrepreneurial spirit. The Center offers a variety of lectures, workshops, and networking opportunities for entrepreneurs.

The first annual Advanced Entrepreneurship Seminar, sponsored by Dynetech Corporation, was held in October with more than 270 individuals in attendance.

The Center awarded its first annual Dynetech Corporation Distinguished Entrepreneur Award to Joel G. Lehman, President, Florida Extruders International, Inc. The criteria for the award required a level of sustainable growth for three years, a solid vision to support anticipated growth, and an ability to overcome growth challenges. ■
